SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Mrs. (Rev.) Edward McCougan received for the first time since her marriage, on the afternoon and evening of Thursday last. In spite of the intense cold a goodly number made their way to "The Mans" where the little Misses Robinson and Ellis were kept busy opening the door for the callers.
Mrs. McCougan, who received with her mother, Mrs. J. T. Macpherson, wore a becoming gown of old rose cashmere de sole and was assisted in the drawing room, during the afternoon hours, by Mrs. H. J. Montgomery and in the evening by Mrs. J. F. Ellis.
The tea table with its dainty lace center-piece and vase of pink carnations, was prettily decorated with trailing smilax, entwined with pink ribbon extending from the electrolier to the pink shaded candles on the four corners of the table. Mrs. J. H. Robinson poured tea during the afternoon and Mrs. Wm. Dixon in the evening. Others assisting in the tea room were Mrs. A. W. Mackay and the Misses Dugden, Knight, Montgomery and Spencer.
Mrs. McCougan will receive in future on the second Thursday.

BURIED ALIVE

"Kit," in January Canada Monthly (formerly Canada-West):

We do not have in this country a Watch House such as they have had in the old city of London. It has been called an eccentric institution, but in view of the many persons who have been known to have been buried alive, who may dare to say so? When several old London grave yards were lately dug up and remains removed, it was found that a shocking percentage has been thus untimely buried. A more awful fate it would be difficult to imagine. In every case the unfortunate inmate was found in some twisted and crooked position, which precluded the possibility that he or she had been really dead when entombed. What horror ending in madness before blessed death came, must not those unfortunate have endured! Ha! torn from the scalp—fingers crooked into the flesh, and agony of mind beyond the thinking! So in Hofsgrats, they ruled these things better, for the good people there erected many years ago, an unique building close by the cemetery. In this for a certain time—three days, I believe—and on payment of a regulated fee, the dead are watched in case that a mistake had been made. The building is divided into numerous departments—well-furnished, and containing every appliance which might help in case of emergency. The dead are placed in slatted coffins the motionless head resting on a delicate mechanism which, on the slightest movement would respond by ringing an alarm bell in the adjoining chamber where an attendant waits. A medical man is at once summoned—in fact his apartments are close by, and restoratives are applied to revive struggling man. I insert here if you can imagine nothing more horrible than the sight of these dead people, half alive among the wreaths of flowers built by loving friends around them, as though in rest, for the poor soul is not surely—and yet more than once it has proved to be a saloon of life itself, of resurrection and hope and—forever.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES TO MEET AT WETASKIWIN

The 5th annual convention of the Association of School Trustees for the Province of Alberta will be held in the Assembly Hall of the Alexander school, Wetaskiwin, on January 25th and 26th. Every school district in the province is entitled to representation at the convention and a large attendance is expected. City and town districts may send two delegates each, and rural districts one delegate each. The Hon. C. R. Mitchell, Minister of Education, has promised to be present at the convention, and it is expected that a representative of the department will attend all the sessions.

On the morning of Wednesday 25th, the convention will be opened by the delivery of the president's address by H. A. Malcolm, of Innisfail. At this session also a paper will be read by G. H. Hutton, superintendent of the Experimental Farm, at Lacombe, on "Agriculture in Rural Schools," to be followed by a discussion of school gardens, their establishment and maintenance.

The afternoon of Wednesday will be devoted to reports and the naming of committees, and an address on "Manual Training in Rural Schools," with demonstration and exhibit of material, by J. C. Miller, B. S., instructor at the Calgary Normal School. This address will be followed by open discussion.

In the evening there will be an entertainment in the Assembly Hall, the program being furnished by the teachers and pupils of the Wetaskiwin schools.

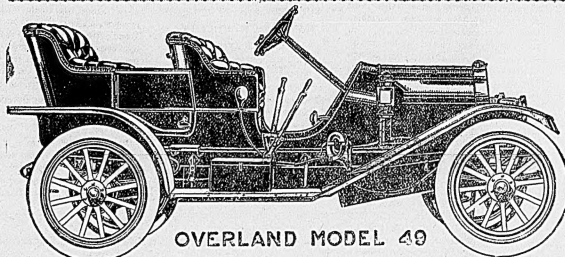

On Thursday the morning session will be devoted to the discussion of a number of resolutions presented by representatives of the several school districts. The program of the afternoon session of the closing day will be reports of committees, the election of officers and several business.

WHAT SIR WILLFRED TOLD THE FARMERS

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—Sir Willfrid Laurier made a statement today which was in reply to a question as to the veracity of certain assertions made in the "Graig Growers' Guide," and was as follows: My recollection of what work took place at the interview varies from the positive statements made in that article. I certainly made no promise of any kind as I had no authority to do so, and the statements of personal views of policy may have been construed into promises. Western farmers after the interview with the government on the 15th met me in further support of the resolutions, which they had placed before the government in favor of the Hudson Bay being built, and operated by the government. Unfortunately my colleague, the minister of railways and canals, could not be present, then reiterated my views, which I had explained in the house interview and stated that whilst personally I was open to consider the building of the road by the government, I was strongly disinclined to the government operating it. I said considering the object sought to be obtained by the farmers there was more certainty of their reaching that object in the road being operated by a company subject to the control of the railway board over tolls, not only for land carriage, but also for ocean carriage with, in addition, the government supervision in England, applying the same of grain in the manner now obtaining by the government supervisor against the adulteration of dairy products."

OVERLAND MECHANISM can hardly be further perfected.

Model 53

Two passenger, 118 inch wheel base, 40 horse power, selective sliding gear dark blue body, French grey gear.

OVERLAND MODEL 53

The Factory, with a capacity of 140 cars daily, has never been able to supply the demand.

On November 1st, 1910, dealers had orders placed for Eighteen Thousand Cars for 1911. We would strongly advise anyone intending to buy an Overland Car for 1911 to place their order at once to insure early delivery.

THE OVERLAND CONSTRUCTION

Overland Cars are built in the largest and best equipped automobile factories in America. Altogether they comprise no less than sixteen manufacturing buildings, aggregating over a million and a half square feet of floor space. Each of these units is a complete factory in itself, having its own organization, possessing every desirable mechanical facility, and concentrating its specialized energy solely on some one department of the work. All Overland parts are manufactured by automatic machines, with which error is impossible, and which are accurate to one thousandth of an inch. This is exactly the same system as is used to-day in the manufacture of high grade watches and other fine machinery—the use of jig tools, templates and dies insuring absolute uniformity and consequent perfection and interchangeability. No better system could be devised. Every detail of the car is planned, designed and built with the idea of simplicity and elimination of useless weight and mechanism, with automatic operation of all mechanical functions. The most careful attention has been paid to matters of this kind. The lubricating system, for example, is so thorough that it unfailingly provides for every moving part, and yet it is entirely automatic. The thermo-siphon cooling system, too, operating on the same principle as a hot water heating plant, and the supplementary fan, is absolutely self-governing and efficient doing away with the complexity of a pump and other attendant mechanism.

Overland Motors are cast singly and water-jacketed, with all valves located on the left side. All valves are of extra large size, are quick in action, and unusually efficient, giving our special design and methods of construction, an engine which actually develops far greater power than is usually possible in motors of similar dimensions.

Crank cases are cast in two pieces of the finest aluminum alloy obtainable, the supporting members being cast integrally and heavily bolted directly to the frame. Magneto, carburetor, fan and manifolds are all rigidly bolted to the engine.

In the smaller models, lubrication is by force feed mechanical oiler, actuated by an eccentric from the cam shaft. Positive drive is thus secured, and the danger of a slipping or broken belt is thus removed. Plungers operate in plain view and distribute the oil by individual leads to separate sections of the crank case, in which a fixed level of oil is constantly maintained. The oiler has a capacity of one gallon, and is provided with glass sight-feed.

In the large cars, the self-contained crank case reservoir has a capacity of three gallons. The constant level splash system is employed in these cars, that is, the oil is kept at a constant level in the oil base and fed by a gear pump which draws the oil from the reservoir through a strainer. It then overflows and returns to reservoir.

Radiators are of the well-known Kinwood type, composed of vertical flat tubes of extra large size, and without angles, insuring free flow of water. Cellular corrugations between the tubes give a combination vertical and cellular tube effect, with the advantages of both constructions. On account of this flat tube construction there is less liability of the radiator bursting from freezing. Two swivelled artillery transoms support the radiator and by allowing a slight swinging motion relieve it from all strain caused by rough roads, with consequent leakage. The whole radiator can be quickly dismounted, if necessary, and is so constructed that in case of accident only a small portion of it need be removed to effect a repair.

Frames are of cold rolled pressed steel, of the best quality obtainable, formed in U-section.

All joints are hot-ripped and all corners heavily reinforced. Fenders are of sheet steel with fender-rod brackets of ample size to insure tight assembly, thus avoiding the possibility of looseness and resulting noise. The design is particularly attractive, being of long, rakish type giving complete protection against mud and dust. Hangers supporting the runningboard are of good size and are securely riveted to the frame.

Final drive is effected by shafts and bevel plain to the rear axle, the speed gears being located just forward of the differential. Both axle and driving tube are thoroughly trussed to prevent possible disalignment, and especially strong and heavy construction is used throughout the parts for the same purpose.

The rear axle is of the semi-floating type and of the most improved design. Four sets of Hyatt roller bearings are employed and no weight whatever is carried on the driving shafts. Adjustable end thrust ball bearings are used on either side of the differential. The front axle is of the I-beam type, drop forged in one piece. The front wheels run on large size ball bearings.

A very neat design of auxiliary foot-throats has been provided in the foot-board, conveniently located for the driver's use. This will be found a great convenience in everyday driving.

The well-known Schenker Carburetor is used in all Overland Models.

Springs are of the semi-elliptic, three-quarter elliptic and full elliptic types, depending upon the model chosen. They are of good length and width, are neither "stiff" nor "soft," and consequently give a comfortable car with easy spring action at all times.

The finest steels, aluminum and other materials are used throughout in the construction of all Overland models. Chrome, nickel and vanadium steels, heat-treated, are employed wherever advantageous, regardless of cost.

We Also Handle "The Brockville 30." Seven Different Models

Model 11 1-2, five passenger touring car, with top and wind shield, extra tire, complete, with tire irons and cover, $1700, f.o.b. Wetaskiwin.

On the 1st of March we will have completed an up-to-date garage, where repair work will be done promptly at a reasonable price. For further particulars, write or call on

Council Meeting

The regular weekly council meeting was held in the city hall, on Tuesday evening, and a full attendance was present.

After the reading of the minutes the question of correspondence was taken up and occupied nearly all the balance of the evening.

The first letter was from the association of Canadian Municipalities and Boards of Trade and asked the support of Wetaskiwin for the Georgian Bay Canal project and that an emissary be sent to the convention to be held at Ottawa, February 1st.

Ald. Olin in a few well chosen words demonstrated why he felt it entirely out of order for Albertans to take forward this movement in any way, in as much as it entailed the expenditure of from $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 on a canal which would in no way directly benefit the West, and would merely be in competition to the Panama Canal route for grain shipment, whereas the West needed badly all the Dominion money obtainable for local development.

A heated debate on the subject followed, at the close of which Ald. Ellis moved that the endorsement be given, the motion was not carried.

Ald. Olin then moved that the matter be laid on the table for one week in order to give opportunity for further investigation—Carried.

A letter was then read from contractor Grant regarding the tardiness of work on the gas well, in which he promised to rush the work on the well and stated that a contract for material had been forwarded to Wetaskiwin. This letter was also laid on the table to await future developments on the arrival of the car of machinery.

In as much as it is admitted that fifteen feet per day is a most conservative estimate for the amount of progress which should be made—also that the contract calls for the work to be completed AS RAPIDLY AS POSSIBLE and that since February 1910, only 315 feet of depth has been reached, it would seem as though the engineering of the contractor was not amiss.

A letter from John Stewart relative to diverting the creek channel was left in the hands of the committee on public works.

The next communication was a letter from Fire Chief McMurdo, asking that the steam fire engine be removed from the engine house and stored until such time as it had been repaired and put back into condition for use. The chief also pointed out the fact that the department was a volunteer organization and hard enough to keep together "without unwarranted censure from those who should help."

Ald. Angus objected to the removal of the steam engine, as it would be needed where it was, while being repaired. He suggested the placing of the old hand pump engine outside the fire house and having it covered with tarantulas.

Ald. Olin opposed this action, pointing out that with the steam fire engine out of commission the hand engine would be the only emergency apparatus available in case of a fire at a time when for any reason the pumping station was disabled.

Ald. MacIsachern then moved that the steam engine be allowed to remain where it is and that arrangements be made for the immediate sale of the hand engine "that twice saved Wetaskiwin." Ald. Angus at this point rose and said that he wished a further investigation of the charges which arose from the Royal Hotel fire. He said I strongly object to the chief or any one else daring to criticize council and I think the chief should be severely censured for writing such a letter to the council without first seeing the report of the committee. I consider he is getting too gay.

The question then arose as to what the charges had been and it was stated that it had been alleged that when the fire broke out no firemen were in the firehall, but that investigation had shown that the men were there and that a faulty telephone message had occasioned the long delay between the discovery of the fire and the sounding of the alarm.

Ald. Angus continued, "I think the sooner a competent professional fire chief is placed in charge of our department the better it will be for the city. This attack was aimed at me, because as chairman of the fire, water and sewerage committee, I refused to allow a layman to cut the outside wires from the poles in front of Royal Hotel, thereby placing the entire house in danger, and offering an opportunity for thieves to ransack the bar and dining room (where all the silverware is exposed) but instructed him to cut the wires in the cellar. Instead—this contravening the chief's orders. I feel that I was not outside of my province in this matter."

Council expressed their entire approval of Ald. Angus' action and Fire Warden—said that he considered the chief's letter "a very injurious one."

Ald. Olin then arose and said, "I am tired of threats from the fire department. The brigade is always ready to threaten and abuse the mayor and council—it wants compensation. I would sooner see the entire department resign and men who wish to wage the city take their places, than stand any more threats."

Ald. Angus stated that he had received in his private as to a professional fire chief, from Winnipeg and Calgary, and would write in a full report at the next meeting. The letter was then laid upon the table with out action and unanswered. Ald. The reports of various committees vice detectives to discover infractions (the duties of the police, for the committee then moved that the reports were then taken up and progress reported by their chairmen.

The police committee's report was accepted after certain suggestions made by City Solicitor Logie had been inserted.

The report severely censuring the police for smoking while on duty and suggested that measures be taken to stop this practice. It also recommended that a sum of $250 a year be expended for the hire of secret

Against all offenders. Further that the police be instructed to allow no objection with good government, most judiciously women to leave the trains be adhered to, we recommend that in the now purged of this element.

The report reads as follows:

FACTORY TO KITCHEN

WHY WE ARE ABLE TO SAVE YOU SO MUCH MONEY.
We make the Ranges and place them in your Kitchens. There's only one transaction and one reasonable profit made on the whole transaction. You don't have to pay a factory profit—there's no jobber's profit—a retail profit—store rent and clerk hire—and expense of traveling salesman. Our great "Factory to Kitchen" Plan enables you to buy the best Range for the same price that the wholesaler and jobber would have to pay for it. The retailer could get it for—and on better terms too.

"DOMINION PRIDE" RANGES
would cost from $65 to $75 if sold by retail stores. Our square deal way of dealing direct with you—cutting you all the profit made on ordinary ranges—enables you to have a "Dominion Pride" Range for $41 to $49.

"Dominion Pride" Ranges are made of best Blue Painted Steel and Malleable Iron. Painted steel does not need blacking—simply go over it with a cloth and it will stay fresh and bright. Malleable iron will NOT warp, crack or break, as cast iron will. Malleable iron is used by railroads for car coupling, and by Farming Implement Makers, because of its superior strength. Cast Iron Ranges are cheap—even at their best—and expensive for you at any price because they can go to pieces. "Dominion Pride" Ranges will last a lifetime because they are built right, of the right materials, by people who know.

SAVE OVER 50% OF YOUR FUEL
"Dominion Pride" Ranges have proved this by actual tests. Whether you use wood or coal "Dominion Pride" will cut down the cost of fuel by almost one-third. COLD rolled steel plate covers, sectional iron lining Fire Box with air chamber—double walled flues, interior of boiler—extra heavy grates—all help to make "Dominion Pride" the most economical Range you can buy.

WE GUARANTEE THEM—ABSOLUTELY
Over 6,000 of our RANGES are in use in Toronto alone, and many thousands more in other parts of Canada. You get a Range that has proved its superiority in every way when you buy a "Dominion Pride," and our guarantee holds good for a year. This guarantee means everything to you—because you have an enormous factory and an old established Canadian Company back of the guarantee. Here's another point about "Dominion Pride" Ranges that is missing in Ranges bought at retail stores. You can always get new parts if you need them.

WE PAY THE FREIGHT—RIGHT TO YOUR STATION
Our price—direct from our factory to your kitchen in this—a "Dominion Pride" Range $45 or $49 up, with high chest shelf or elevated tank or flash reservoir, with air chest to go under Range, White or blue painted steel pipe and 2 elbows—delivered to any railroad, express station in Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia or Prince Edward Island—for $41—At least, write for the booklet. You'll find them wonderfully interesting. Send to-day.
